

Dr Robin Glasscock is an historical geographer whose interests are in the settlement and economy of Britain and Ireland in the medieval period. Now a Fellow of St John's College, Cambridge, he worked with Maurice Beresford on the excavation of the deserted medieval village of Wharram Percy and on the field visits to medieval towns which led to the publication of "New Towns of the Middle Ages" in 1967.